Raft Building

From building a raft to carry a teddy bear across a paddling pool, to a raft to carry the whole patrol across a lake. This involves building a raft from few objects e.g. pioneering poles, ropes and barrels.

This activity involves teamwork and cooperation also testing out the patrol's knowledge of knots and their idea of building items from scratch.

As well, getting wet is part of the fun.

I have done this activity many times, and still haven't remembered to wear floatable shoes and to never wear your best watch!
But it is great fun, even if you do get soaked.

On a good side for your parents, you HAVE to have a shower afterwards.

Scouting, also known as the Scout Movement, is a worldwide youth movement. The aim of this is to support young people in physical, mental and spiritual development, that they may play constructive roles in society.
